JANEVILLE, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 9.

STATE OF WISCONSIN. A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR.

In conformity with law, I, William D. Howard, Governor of the State of Wisconsin, do hereby proclaim:

Wednesday, April 30th Next, as Arbor Day, and recommend that all public schools and colleges of the state observe the same by suitable exercises, "having for their object the imparting of knowledge of horticulture, in the department known as arboriculture, and the adornment of schools and public grounds."

It is my desire, and I call upon the great people of the State of Wisconsin to do the same.

Sealed, Done at the capital, in the city of Madison, this 13th day of March, A. D. 1890.

WILLIAM D. HOWARD.

By the Governor:

ERNEST G. TISME, Secretary of State.

GERMANDON IN WISCONSIN.

It was rather unfortunate for the Milwaukee Germans to claim immediately after election that Germandon had been established in Wisconsin, and that the Germans would not consent to the adoption of American manners, language, and customs, to the exclusion of the language and customs of Germany. The German sentiment knows no sympathy with thousands of Germans who are Americanized. They are here as American citizens, and want their children to speak the language of the country, for without it, their citizenship would be of no use to them or the community in which they live.

A few weeks ago the Gazette printed an editorial on Germany and compulsory education, which designed to show that the Germans were not consistent in their opposition to the Bennett law, for in Germany they have a compulsory educational law which is even more radical than the only one which the Wisconsin legislature ever enacted, and that law is regarded by Germans as the pride and glory of their native country. On this line of thought are a few words from the Chicago Tribune:

It seems a little odd that the German Lutherans of Milwaukee, born and reared in Germany, should change their views as to right and wrong so radically when they reach this country. In their old home the education was compulsory, and we in the language of the country. They never protest against it. Why should they hate where we have allowed them to? What German idea? The control of the German State over children in the free schools is carried much farther than here. The parent has absolutely nothing to say. There are no optional studies which he may have his children learn or not as he pleases. Were he to attempt to interfere with the State's course of instruction he would soon find himself in hot water.

The fact is also stated in this connection that Lutherans in Germany do not object to this absolute compulsory educational law, in fact they admire it there and why do they so bitterly and persistently oppose it here? Here is another point:

When Bismarck undertook to control the course of instruction in Roman Catholic seminaries, when young men were educated for the priesthood, did the German Lutherans protest? Not at all. They agreed with Bismarck that the priest should be so secularly educated that he would not be a danger to the State. Why, then, do they in Wisconsin protest so hotly against an educational law which interferes with the religious instruction of man, but which is designed merely to make the most learned and capable citizens who would otherwise be poor weak ones? The German Lutheran ministers of Wisconsin are so inconsistent that there must be some selfish reason for their course.

The question is asked by the Tribune, "Is that why they have discovered that a parent in Wisconsin has a due right to insist that his child shall know only German, while they indignantly repudiate the idea that a parent in Germany has a divine right to insist that his child shall know only French?"

Here are some extracts from other journals of national reputation, which are worthy of going on record: From the New York Post: "It is only a wave, which must inevitably recede. No state in the American Union will permanently submit to the exclusion of the English language from the schools at the dictate of the church."

The New York Mail: "It is a conflict that was sure to come in this country somewhere and at some time. It looks as though Wisconsin would be the great battle-ground on which the most vital and important issues are to be fought out, for the instruction and benefit of all Americans and for all time."

From the Cleveland Leader: "The longer such an issue as the Bennett law is discussed and kept before the people the stronger will be the party of common sense and the weaker will become the forces of bigotry and narrow-minded prejudices brought to this country from Europe. In the long run nothing can be lost by the unwavering support of the common school system in its best and most thorough American form."

From the Philadelphia Telegraph: "Milwaukee is not an American city. The majority of its people do not desire their children to even learn the language of the country. It has been so thoroughly taken possession of by a non-Americanized foreign element that they refuse to have their children educated to understand English. This incident shows to what lengths the enemies of the public school system are determined to go in the warfare which they have inaugurated. They will stop at nothing to carry their ends; and, in this case, not only were political lines ignored, but evangelical divisions as well, the Lutherans of the city being arrayed almost solidly against the law. If these people are so enamored of their home customs and language and the ignorance that prevails, they ought to go back there and stay."

Commissioner Rium, of the pension bureau, says that last month was the busiest yet experienced in the history of his office. Sixteen thousand pension certificates were issued, and of these 8,000 cases were for original pensions. This record has never been equaled since the pension bureau was organized. It is difficult to tell where this pension legislation will end. Some of the wildest schemes an extravagant representative can formulate, have been offered to government. The dependent pension bill, which was presented in the senate, an outline of which was given in the Gazette the other day, will cost the government only about $40,000,000 extra a year, a small sum compared with what some other bills propose to do for the soldiers. Senator Flum's scheme, it is said, would cost the government some 478 millions, and the chairman of the house committee puts the cost at $50 millions. The democratic estimate is the cost at $60 millions. Of course, these estimates are wild, but they serve to show the interest congress is taking in the welfare of the ex-soldiers.

Ever since the New York Times printed fictitious figures in regard to the amount of farm mortgages in the United States, the democratic press has taken great delight in reproducing the figures to show how much financial wrecking the tariff has done for this country. For the enlightenment of the democratic press the following figures are given, compiled by Mulhall, the noted statistician: 116 the estate of Great Britain and Ireland is mortgaged for 50 per cent. of its value; the farm lands of Denmark are mortgaged for 41 per cent. of their value, and the real estate of Copenhagen for 70 per cent; the real estate of France is mortgaged for $3,000,000,000, or $25 an acre for every acre, including mountain tops and rivers in the empire; 8 per cent. of the entire taxable real estate of Germany is mortgaged, "with mortgages," says Presser, a German writer, "scarcely decentable." The German farmers, according to Dr. Jaeger, pay $125,000,000 a year interest on mortgages, and Shoepo, another German writer says that it is far above that sum. It is mortgaged 40 per cent on all her taxable real estate; Sweden 33 per cent, and others in like proportion. These are all old countries, and their mortgages represent generations of unprofitable farming, not the development of a great and new empire.

The proposition of Senator Paddock, of Nebraska, that for three years—1891, 2, 3, a bounty of one dollar per ton be given on oats raised in this country and delivered to a factory and made into merchantable sugar, and a further bounty of one dollar for every 100 pounds of sugar made from beets raised in the United States, is considered by many to be a movement in the right direction.

The sugar question is one of great importance to this country, and if the American supply can be made equal to the demand, it will be a fortunate thing for the United States. Any movement that will make sugar more abundant and cheaper is interesting and important to the people.

The Hon. Gal. Brice is discreetly silent these days. He says little, but he goes out once in a while and buys a rail-road in the same quiet, unobtrusive way in which he purchased a legislature.

Probably Mr. Brice is earnestly pondering the question, how it will fare with him next year when he will be required to show how a New York man can represent Ohio in the senate. There certainly is something in this to keep a man "discreetly silent."

The time has arrived when all hope for the recovery of Samuel J. Randall are abandoned. It is only a question of time when the end will come, and that time is not distant. The country can ill afford to lose such a man. Although a partisan, he is a splendid example of American statesmanship.

The question is asked by the Tribune, "Is that why they have discovered that a parent in Wisconsin has a due right to insist that his child shall know only German, while they indignantly repudiate the idea that a parent in Germany has a divine right to insist that his child shall know only French?"

UNPOPULAR EMPEROR.

The German Emperor's Vagaries Have Caused Alarm Among His People.

EIGHT THOUSAND STRIKERS BECOME A SAVAGE MOB.

Buildings Sacked and Many Persons Wounded—Other News from Across the Water.

VIENNA, April 9.—At a meeting of strikers here trouble arose between the workmen and the police. The police were stoned by the crowd and many were arrested.

Later 8,000 unemployed men held another disorderly meeting, which culminated in a serious riot. The mob demolished the police guard-room in the suburb New Lerchenfeld and seriously wounded the officer in charge. They then set fire to a shop, prevented the fire-engines from approaching, and plundered several Jews' shops. The police were driven out were compelled to fire several blank volleys before the rioters dispersed.

The rioters afterwards sacked another tavern and smashed all the windows in the place. Every vehicle that passed was stoned by the mob. Two squadrons of cavalry and a battalion of infantry dispersed the rioters. Many civilians and fourteen policemen were wounded. Thirty-seven persons were arrested.

HE IS UNPOPULAR.

Emperor William's Vagaries Have Caused Alarm Throughout His Empire.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Edmund Yates' cable to the Tribune says: "The friendly Princes of the German Empire have no sort of belief in the brilliant capacity of Emperor William. They are disgusted and terrified at his recent sarcasm. The Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha and a dozen German nobility took advantage of the relationship to estrange in strong terms with the Emperor, and he was justified in so doing as the trusted friend and often confidential adviser of his majesty's father and grandfather. But his protests were of no avail. The Duke was so indignant that he refused to stay in Berlin for the duration of the trial of the defendant in Boston, and an attachment upon the same has been made.

Death of a St. Louis Lepper.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 9.—James Brennan, a leper, who has been confined at a quarantine for two years, died last night. He had been diagnosed by the leading physician of the West and pronounced genuine leprosy. He had created a panic about two months ago by escaping from quarantine to this city. For two days he was at large, but was finally run down by the police. How Brennan became afflicted with the dread malady has never been explained.

New Counterfeits in Circulation.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 9.—Copies of the new counterfeit $10 bill have made their appearance in this city in large numbers and a great many people have taken them without suspecting their spurious nature. The counterfeit is on the Germania Bank of New Orleans, series of 1882, and is signed W. S. Rosecrans, Register of the Treasury. It is really a poor counterfeit, being very pale, but has deceived a number of people.

Elopement of a Youthful Couple.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., April 9.—George Laney, a boy 17 years of age, was arrested yesterday for eloping with the 13-year-old daughter of William Davis. Laney and the girl went to Atchison yesterday, where, they claim, they were married. According to reports, they began housekeeping in an old boat on the river bank. There they were discovered by the girl's father. The child was returned to her parents.

Death of a St. Louis Lepper.

LOS ANGELES, April 9.—The barbarous murder of "Helena Montana," a disreputable woman, at Universal, near Aix La Chapelle, has created much excitement. The woman was killed in some mysterious manner in the open street, almost under the eyes of the police.

The throat was cut from ear to ear. The body was dismembered and otherwise mutilated. The body of "Jack the Ripper," when found, was described as having been found in a state of decomposition. The woman was killed in some mysterious manner in the open street, almost under the eyes of the police.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 9.—The Czar has completely recovered from his indisposition. He will return to the Imperial Palace at Gatchina on April 20.

IMMIGRANT INVESTIGATION.

The Congressional Committee Taking Testimony Regarding Abuses.

NEW YORK, April 9.—The sub-committee of the Immigrant, which is going to look into the immigration law risks for the purpose of devising improvements therein, has begun work. Congressman W. D. Owen of Indiana is chairman of the committee.

Testimony showed that out of 300,000 immigrants who arrived last year 300 were rejected. The largest number who arrived on any one day was 9,000. A calculation showed that on this day there were 1,000 immigrants passed on an average, one immigrant in considerably less than a minute. Steerage quarters were generally more fit for beasts than for human beings.

WHIPPED ON THE STREET.

L. G. PATTON, of Columbus, Ohio, Soundly Lashed by His Irate Wife.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 9.—The unusual sight of a woman horsing a policeman on the street attracted a crowd on Spring street, opposite the State prison this morning. The man was L. G. Patton, an official of the prison, and the woman his wife.

Patton is a powerfully built man who made no attempt to disarm his wife, but sought refuge in a stable near by. She sought him out in the stable, and when he closed the door in such a manner as to entrap her hand, and thus held her a prisoner on the outside.

Friends came to their mutual rescue and induced them to arbitrate the case, and the causes of this disgraceful affair were withheld from the public.

Subsidized by Means of Bogus Checks.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 9.—Several merchants here and at Elkhart have been victimized by means of bogus checks. The plan of the confidence men is to send a boy into a store with a check, accompanied by a note purporting to come from some well-known citizen requesting that the check be cashed, as the money is needed. The check itself appears to be all right, but upon investigation the checks so far presented have been found to be forgeries. Several business men have been taken in for small amounts.

A NEW WONDER.

Sad Story Told by a Little Girl in the St. Louis Divorce Courts.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 9.—Future Clark Gilkerson, daughter of a late prominent bank cashier of this city, secured a divorce from her husband, an actor yesterday. The girl's story, as told on the stand, was especially sad. She is only a child, and came into court a short time, which buttoned up the back. She was stage-struck and answered an advertisement. Gilkerson offered her $50 a week to join his company.

She went with him to Cincinnati, and there he persuaded her to marry him. He took her to Pittsburgh, where, she said, he worked a confidence game and left her in a work-house. Her friends sent her money to come home. She belongs to one of the oldest and best families in the city.

IT IS UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

Decision of the Wisconsin Supreme Court on the Law Taxing Estates.

MADISON, Wis., April 9.—In the case of the State ex rel. Henry B. Sanderson vs. John E. Mann, the Supreme Court has decided unconstitutional the law which provides that in counties of 150,000 inhabitants the administrators of estates are required to pay into the county treasury a sum equal to one-half of 1 per cent of the appraised value of the estate; if the estate be appraised at $100,000, then one-tenth of 1 per cent on the excess to be paid in addition to one-half of 1 per cent on the $100,000, while estates under $5,000 are exempted.
